A strong, independent, responsive judiciary adhering to the rule of law is one of the hallmarks of a democratic society. Although every citizen has an interest in the maintenance of an effective judicial system, lawyers (as officers of the court) have an even keener interest in this.

It was with this in mind that DRI created the National Foundation for Judicial Excellence (NFJE) in 2004. NFJE is an independent, 501(c)(3) charitable foundation that provides judges with educational programs and other tools to enhance the rule of law and administration of justice.

For twelve years, the NFJE has successfully produced a first-rate symposium, hosting nearly 1,200 appellate court judges from 44 states.

Judges’ responses to the programs have been universally enthusiastic, and many have expressed appreciation for the high caliber and balanced nature of the program. Comments include:

- This was a fantastic program—intellectually stimulating and thorough.
- The speakers were excellent and the topics were timely. I anticipate next year’s symposium.
- Thanks to everyone for a great program. I already look forward to next year’s program.
- This is one of the best organized and informative seminars that I have ever attended. Keep up the good work.
- The program and the entire experience were excellent. I encourage the Foundation to continue this long into the future.
- The program was well planned and of high intellectual caliber.
- Bravo! Keep up the good tradition for which you have laid a sound foundation.
- Thank you for providing us with an opportunity to get together and compare notes with judges from other states.
This Year’s Symposium

State appellate judges play a unique and vital role in our judicial system. They are regularly called upon to resolve a host of increasingly complex legal disputes. The 2016 NFJE Symposium aims to provide in-depth perspectives and expert insights on the variety of issues confronted by state appellate judges.

The Symposium consists of multi-speaker panels addressing topics spanning from cutting-edge issues raised by internet research to age-old quandaries about the role of appellate courts in reviewing jury verdicts. Nationally known speakers from both the bench and academia will provide their insights on these topics, as well as engage participants in the type of interactive learning process that makes the study of complex topics not only fruitful, but enjoyable.

The Symposium begins on Friday, July 15, with keynote speaker Ross Guberman, author of Point Taken: How to Write Like the World’s Best Judges. That work explores the components of effective judicial prose by examining real-world examples from 34 esteemed judges, from Learned Hand to Antonin Scalia. Mr. Guberman is the president of Legal Writing Pro LLC and has taught more than a thousand programs on legal writing on three different continents. He has spoken before judges, bar associations, and prominent law firms. He is also a Professorial Lecturer in Law at the George Washington University Law School, where he teaches a seminar on drafting and writing.

The Symposium continues on Saturday, July 16, with panels addressing topics at the forefront of the state appellate process, including:

- The effect of social media and the Internet on judicial decision making and the role of publicly available information in resolving appeals even when that information might not be in the record;
- The methodologies for interpreting state constitutions and the process by which state constitutional law develops;
- The importance of insurance in the modern litigation system and the various, interlocking ways in which insurance disputes may be resolved;
- Divining those circumstances when it is appropriate for appellate courts to peel back the veil of a jury verdict and review the outcome of a jury trial for possible misconduct by jurors or attorneys; and
- The role of public policy in developing state common law and in construing statutes.

Please join our nationally recognized panel of judges, attorneys, and scholars for the 2016 NFJE Symposium.
Schedule of Events

Friday, July 15

4:00–5:00 p.m. | Registration

5:00–6:00 p.m. | Secrets of the Great Opinion Writers
In this session, Ross Guberman, author of the acclaimed new book Point Taken: How to Write Like the World’s Best Judges, will share concrete tips on how to improve key parts of appellate opinions.
Ross Guberman, Legal Writing Pro LLC, Washington, D.C.

6:00–7:30 p.m. | Welcome Reception

7:30 p.m. | Dinner on your own

Saturday, July 16

7:30–8:15 a.m. | Continental Breakfast

8:15–8:30 a.m. | Welcome and Introductions
Peter J. Hersha, NFJE President
Mary Massaron, 2016 Symposium Program Chair

8:30–9:30 a.m. | Information Gathering by Appellate Courts: Is It Ever Permissible for an Appellate Judge to Gather Information from the Internet?
Hear an academic and two appellate judges discuss competing considerations regarding when, if ever, an appellate court should look at information on the Internet not cited by the parties, whether the judge has an obligation to advise the parties that he or she has done so, and related issues.
Moderator | Michael B. Wallace, Wise Carter Child, Jackson, Mississippi
Professor Edward K. Cheng, Vanderbilt Law School, Nashville, Tennessee
Judge Sharon Keller, Texas Court of Criminal Appeals, Austin, Texas
Judge Michael E. Keasler, Texas Court of Criminal Appeals, Austin, Texas

9:30–9:45 a.m. | Break

9:45–11:15 a.m. | Insurance Fundamentals
Insurance occupies a central position in the realm of civil litigation. But the availability of insurance, in all its forms, also is necessary to the very existence of an advanced society. This reality often invests the adjudication of individual insurance coverage disputes with far-reaching economic and social ramifications. A court’s consideration of such disputes will be enriched by a basic knowledge of insurance fundamentals, including principles of underwriting, policy structure, how layers of coverage operate, regulatory mechanisms, and the application of common law doctrines to the interpretation of policies.
Moderator | Michael B. King, Carney Badley Spellman, Seattle, Washington, D.C.
Daniel M. Ames, Ford Motor Company, Dearborn, Michigan
Laura A. Foggan, Wiley Rein LLP, Washington, D.C.
Colleen Shiel, Property Casualty Insurers Association of America, Chicago, Illinois
Carla van Dongen, State Farm Insurance Companies, Bloomington, Illinois
11:15 a.m.–12:15 p.m.
Competing Approaches to State Constitutional Doctrine
What are the differing sources that the state appellate courts look to when interpreting state constitutions? What are the varied approaches that the state courts have embraced as a mode of decision making? When can and should they interpret their constitutions differently from constitutional interpretations of similar provisions in the United States Constitution?
Moderator | Mark J. Crandley, Barnes & Thornburg LLP, Indianapolis, Indiana
Justice Jeffrey S. Boyd, Supreme Court of Texas, Austin, Texas
Professor David A. Carrillo, University of California Berkeley, Berkeley, California
Justice Randy J. Holland, Delaware Supreme Court, Dover, Delaware

12:15–1:30 p.m.
Luncheon

1:30–2:45 p.m.
What Is a Fair Trial? Keeping the Ball in the Fairway
Courts have said that a litigant is entitled to a fair trial, not a perfect one. Whether due to flagrant attorney misbehavior, biased or autocratic judging, or confounding jury findings, when does a trial become so “unfair” (or so imperfect) that the appellate court should reverse? Our distinguished panel, with the help of audience polling, will explore this topic.
Moderator | J. Michael Weston, Lederer Weston Craig PLC, Cedar Rapids, Iowa
Professor Cassandra Burke Robertson, Case Western Law School, Cleveland, Ohio
Judge Margaret G. Robb, Indiana Court of Appeals Fifth District, Indianapolis, Indiana
Chief Judge Michael Talbot, Michigan Court of Appeals, Detroit, Michigan

2:45–3:00 p.m.
Break

3:00–3:45 p.m.
Public Policy in Judicial Decision Making: Where Is It Properly Found and What Are Its Limits?
Judge Ruggero Aldisert wrote in his treatise for judges on opinion writing, that “[n]o discussion of opinion writing theory can be complete without a reference to judicially declared policy.” But when is public policy appropriately employed as a tool of decision? And where is it to be properly found? Listen to an engaging discussion of these and other issues related to the use of public policy as a tool of judicial decision making.
Moderator | Mary Massaron, Plunkett Cooney PC, Bloomfield Hills, Michigan
Judge Kurtis T. Wilder, Michigan Court of Appeals, Detroit, Michigan

3:45–5:00 p.m.
Speaker Panel
Our speakers and audience participants will engage in a lively discussion of topics generated from the symposium sessions, addressing the competing approaches to state law.
Moderator | Daniel F. Polsenberg, Lewis Roca Rothgerber, Las Vegas, Nevada

5:00 p.m.
Closing Remarks
Peter J. Hersha, NFJE President

5:00 – 6:00 p.m.
